Col Millett lead the very the last US Bayonet Charges
Col Lewis L Millett died at the age of 88 last November 14, 2009. Having served in three wars, WW II, Korea, and Vietnam, he won a Congressional Medal of Honor for leading the very last known US bayonet charge during the Korean War with M1 Garand rifles. They charged up Hill 180 near Osan on February 7, 1951 and captured it and then held it. The battle is now known at Battle of Bayonet Hill. He had lead an earlier bayonet charge on February 5. He was a Captain at the time of Easy Company, 27th Infantry.

Hill 180 is located near the distinguished visitor’s quarters above the 51st Fighter Wing Headquarters, Bldg. 1097, 7th Air Force, Korea.
National WASP Museum

There is now a WASP museum at Interstate 20 at 210 Loop 170, Avenger Field, Sweetwater Texas. The museum is there but their mailing address is P.O. Box 96679, Washington DC 20090-6679. WASP web site address is www.waspmuseum.org.

Over 25,000 applied, 1,830 were accepted, 1,074 got wings. 12,650 planes were flown from one field to another by the WASP.

End of WW II

Nothing reminds the people of Russia of the end of WW II like the May 9th parade in Moscow – which for the first time US, British, French troops were allowed to march in. 10,000+ Russian Federation soldiers marched in that parade. Over 102,000 soldiers marched in various parades throughout the country.

One of the best museums to visit in Russia is the Volgograd (Stalingrad) museum. No displays are in English, so find someone who reads Russian or find a good translator program if you go.

Bud Mahurin, Fighter pilot, dead at 91

Flying in both WW II and Korea – where he was shot down strafing a truck in his F-86, he was one of the best fighter leaders during WW II. He had 20.5 confirmed victories in WW II in both the ETO and Pacific.

“I should never have gone after that truck,” Mr. Mahurin told the Gannett News Service in 2006. “You never want to trade a $500,000 airplane for a $50,000 truck. I figured, well, I’d go shoot that up and then I’ll have a good story to tell the boys at the officers’ club when I get back to base. And of course I never got back.” http://www.nytimes.com/2010/05/16/us/16mahurin.html

Edward Uhl, Co-Inventor of Bazooka, Dies at 92

He was in the Ordnance Corps after he enlisted in 1941 and in 1942 came up with the idea of using a tube to hold the 60mm rocket that propelled the shaped charge grenade that would hit a tank. The name “Bazooka” came from the music instrument that comedian Bob Burns used in his act.

Pamela Murphy, Wife of Audie Murphy, Died April 8, aged 90
She worked at the Sepulveda VA hospital for over 30 years.

Seattle Flying Heritage Museum Rolls out their Tanks
The Flying Heritage Museum http://www.flyingheritage.com/ will roll out two of their AFVs – Armored Fighting Vehicles – a T-34/85 WW II Russian tank and a German tank destroyer. The museum is located at Paine Field at Everett. The Hetzer Jagdpanzer 38(t) Tank Destroyer is the other AFV that will drive out on display this memorial day weekend. The 38(t) was built on the Czech chassis tank type 38 – hence the name.

If you are in Seattle on Memorial day you can see some special vehicle events. The Puget Sound Military Vehicle Collectors Club will be there, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Memorial Day. The planned scheduled is to drive and fire the T-34 tank at noon, fire a Flak 88 artillery gun at 1 p.m. and drive and fire the Hetzer at 2 p.m.

Four Course Radio Range Navigation

Here is a video created and posted onto YouTube on how the 1940 era four course radio range worked – using a WORKING four point radio range system created at K43TN airport from Airlines Transport Communication corporate aircraft.

“The original four course ranges were very large because they operated in the very low frequency range, requiring 200 foot high towers with wide spacing. This model system operates in the high frequency 28 MHz band, so it is much smaller.”

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=p-VqtNY8vpw

On my web site I have a verbal explanation of how it works along with other radio navigation aids of the WW II era.

Related news: the LORAN station in Alaska was demolished in April since the 1000’ tall antenna was rusting out and they wanted a controlled destruction of it.

Spiegel Online – Photos

Spiegel is a news magazine that has been around for a long time. Since the re-unification of the two Germanys archives from the East have been found and are now being reviewed and in some cases published. Here are some photos taken during the final days and soon after of what was left of Berlin in 1945. Some very graphic images.

“Milk Run” Definition

Milk Run: noun; uneventful, routine. Slang for an “easy mission”. A combat mission where you attack the enemy and get credit for a mission toward your tour total but no enemy fighters, nor any effective anti-aircraft guns, are expected to be firing at you. Word origin based upon the routine nature of delivering milk every morning to people in the US in the 1920s. First referenced in print 1925. See “cake walk”. Antonym of Schweinfurt.
